MS team debates in N.Y. Comedy scheduled Play cast announced

Dr. Franklin Batdorf has announced that MSC's debate squad will go to a tournament at Washington Square College of New York University.

Gerri Sorben, Patricia Hogan, Shirley Sipe, Janice McMillen, Joe Wilson, and Jim Zuelow, along with Dr. Batdorf will participate in the tourney.

Beards, 19th century costumes, and a banner on the car will advertise Minnesota's centennial year on the trip and during the time the group debates.

En route to New York the group will stop in Washington, D. C. They are planning to visit Senator Humphrey, Senator Thyne, and Congressman

Coya Knutson. Plans to see Congress and the United Nations in session are being made. Dr. Batdorf stated that this project is in line with the objectives as a debate organization, in that the group becomes more aware of world affairs.

The team will leave early the week of April 20, since the tournament will be held on April 25 and 26. The trip is financed by the forensic fund with possible assistance from local sources.

Casting for the next MS play production, "The Male Animal," has been completed. Tryouts were held Wednesday and Thursday, April 9 and 10.

The play, a comedy by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent, revolves around a teacher in a Mid-Western university. His complacency is suddenly disturbed by several problems not common to most college professors.

Taking the part of the teacher, Tommy Turner, will be Fred Kickertz.

His wife Ellen will be played by Gladys Larson. Jack Renner will play the part of Joe Ferguson, a former football hero and a friend of Ellen Turner. A college intellectual, Michael Barnes, will be played by Ron Olson, and Dean Frederick Damon will be played by Harlan Shuck.

Others in the cast are Mary Ann Jerezek as Mrs. Blanche Damon, Jim Stillman as Ed Keller, Rose Mary Malmgren as Myrtle Keller, Richard Quast as Nutsy Miller, Lowell Olson as Wally Myers, Kathy Briggs as Patricia Stanley, Dez Scheutze as Cleota, and Vernon Harrison as the reporter.

Cleanup day set

Commission . . .

by Robert Carpenter

Monday's meeting of the student commission opened with the selection of Art Lensegrav and Elinor Kinsella as co-chairmen for next fall's homecoming. The commission decided to route the homecoming parade through Fargo. The commission will judge the forthcoming slogan contest.

Campus cleanup day was set for Tuesday, April 22. Cleanup activities will start at 2:30 p.m. accompanied by music from the center of the circle. The bookstore has donated pop and cookies for refreshments.

These activities brought up the question of students who get out of classes but do not work and how to get the refreshments to those who have earned them. Organization of the areas is to be much like last year, with areas assigned to different classes.

Student union

The student union planning board submitted their constitution for the approval of the commission. The commission accepted it without modification. It was reported that the suggestions of the Board were already in the hands of the architect.

Properties were again discussed. Commissioners decided to buy new spot lights with color lens attachments, extension cords, and an identifying stamp to mark commission property. Action on the purchase of camera was postponed pending receipt of information as to costs.

Lyceums

It was suggested that the commission investigate the possibilities of cooperation with the other schools in the area on lyceum program admission.

Previously the commission placed a suggestion box on the door to the commission room in response to a request, but so far they have received no suggestions. Ideas to get the students to use it were discussed.

Other topics brought up were the distribution of the Mistic, cheerlead-

Major Jeanette I. Sustad, who is in charge of women officer selection in this area, will interview candidates for the women officers' training class during her visit to Moorhead State College Wednesday, April 23.

Interviews may be arranged by telephoning 5-4380, the Marine Corps recruiting station in Fargo, or by contacting Major Sustad on campus.

News Beat...

• • • Changed our minds again. The Mistic will come out on Thursdays rather than Wednesdays. The earlier date should give you newer news and better advance coverage of campus activities.

• • • The new Mistic publication date will mean that the deadline for getting news into the paper will be Friday. If you have news after Friday, consult the editor well in advance.

• • • The Treasury Department announced a change in income tax regulations to benefit teachers on April 5. Under the new ruling, persons spending money for certain kinds of education — such as summer school for teachers — may make deductions on their income taxes. This is retroactive, as of this date, to 1955.

Concordia Touring Theater's cast of "The Importance of Being Earnest" brought pleasant entertainment to the few who attended the production in Weld Auditorium on April 10.

Women students can get new dorm reservation

Women students returning to campus next fall may now get dormitory room reservations for the new dormitory.

Seniors will have preference for rooms and roommates. They may make their reservations April 28 to May 1, and sophomores May 5 and 8.

If applications are not returned by May 16, assignments will be made but students will not have choice of rooms.

Students who plan to live with relatives or work for board and room next fall must see Miss Stewart to get approval.

Object matrimony?

(The following is an editorial which appeared in the April 11 of Concordia Colleges newspaper The Concordian. We feel that while this editorial, if applied to MS, might be slightly exaggerated it is nevertheless applicable to the home front.)

We have a serious segregation problem on campus. It seems to be an unwritten law, broken only by a hardened and courageous minority. The situation is most obvious in the cafeteria. If one happens to sit at the same table with someone of the opposite sex the two of you are left in utter solitude. People pass by, eyes right, assuming that you must be going steady.

As for most class rooms, they bear an extraordinary resemblance to the orthodox synagogue... men on one side and women on the other, divided by an unwavering line down the middle aisle. All this would seem to indicate a mute disapproval of the co-educational system, and a quiet attempt to get away from it.

This segregation is pretty silly, and it's nothing more than a mass habit, with no real reason. Let's stop it."

This sounds familiar, does it not? Our cafeteria bears a striking resemblance to the one described by Miss Drummond.

I took a private poll on this campus and found the following to be generally true. Any male student taking the time to pleasantly greet any female student not considered "taken" is immediately referred to as being morbidly interested in matrimony, and his dating days are over, on campus at least.

Local libel construes common cafeteria courtesy to mean love leers and moonlight and roses. As to whose fault this situation is I couldn't say. It could come from the voiced wishful thinking of the attention showered unattached, who makes a "big deal" out of a coffee chat. It could come from well meaning cupids who, having snared their mates, want every one to share in their happiness by capturing mates of their own; these cupids can easily "push" what they think might be a budding romance by talking it over with their friends, thus spreading the word that so-and-so are madly in love. At any rate the word soon spreads when two people of the opposite sex happen to sit at the same table in the Cafeteria.

The most common theory as to why this situation does thrive on this campus is that the immaturity of some students leads to giggling, gossip, and talk of goings-on between idly conversing couples. This theory sounds most reasonable.

As to a remedy to this situation... I say this: I rather enjoy the opposite sex, and no man who ever innocently drank coffee with me in the cafeteria has been dragged screaming to the altar. If more people tried intergration in the cafeteria they wouldn't have time to discuss the other couples having a good time.

Attends conference

Miss Marion Smith, MSC mathematics teacher, attended a workshop on electronic computers, their applications and use Mar. 31 and April 1 at Hamline University. The conference, conducted for science and mathematics teachers of Minnesota, was sponsored by Remington Rand.

Advisory changes ready for sophomore students

Dr. W. A. Williams of the student personnel office has announced that a number of students have not picked up their notices of transfer from lower division advisors to upper division advisors.

The notices are in the Wheeler and Ballard post office boxes and on the off-campus students' bulletin boards.

Reading council planned

Red River Valley teachers of reading will unite to form an organization for the teaching of reading in the fall.

About 40 area teachers decided to establish a "reading council" in a meeting held at Moorhead State College last week. Led by Dr. Allan Erickson, reading consultant at MSC, those at the meeting set September as the month in which the council would be started.

The group, which will be connected with the International Reading Association, will meet regularly to discuss the reading problems school children have and the methods of correcting them.

Post Mortem

"Be happy in your work," for work is the essence of life. As Thomas Carlyle once wrote, "Laborare est orare." If you don't understand that, it is because you cannot read Latin. Actually, it doesn't make too much sense in English, so no translation will be attempted. With the spring weather matching the moods of the students, or vice versa, it is really silly.

Will whoever has the "Honor Your Partner" records, please for heaven's sake return them? It is the only way we will ever get rid of those bulletin board signs. It seems like a dirty trick, anyhow, to appropriate records which belong to someone else. Admittedly they are classics, but —

One thing which we at MSC may be justly proud of is the huge auditorium which we have. One never needs to go to Weld early, for there is always room for all. Last week, when the Concordia drama group presented the Oscar Wilde play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," we had just another example. Plenty of room for everyone. No one was frustrated, because there was a choice of seats.

The magnificent Rialto Supper Club was the scene of a brief, informal gathering Friday night. The cream of local society met over a littered table to discuss the problems of the world. The recession was a favorite topic of conversation. Just before the guests left, one man donated 25 cents to the cause. "Didn't hear the warning," he said.

Last week taught all over-eager suitors a lesson. Don't date any movie stars until you determine whether they have a daughter. It used to be chaparrones!

It has been a rough winter on cats. Saturday's Science Fair contained as exhibits two cat skeletons and a stuffed one. The only mice at the exhibit were still living although they were caged. Perhaps it shows a trend. If it does, it can all be blamed on the SPCA, who stirred up such an unholy turmoil over the mouse a group of Austin youngsters sent up in a toy Sputnik.

A parting thought: Keep your eye on the bluebird. There is supposed to be one every over rainbow. (I know it sounds asinine, but you'd be surprised how much better it is up on Clour 9, eyes trained on rainbows. One can ignore so many things, most of which are better ignored.)

AE's dinner dance scheduled for Graver

Some anonymous well-wisher of students owning cars left this tidbit in the Mistic mailbox this week... (from the Minneapolis AAA Automobile Club.) "Fixed car costs for the average car owner came to $635 a year or $1.74 per day." Said the well-wisher by way of preface: "Wow! Do the students know how much it costs to have a car?"

After much deliberation it has been decided that the Mistic will wend its way to you, dear readers, on Thursdays... which means news should be in the eager hands of staff workers by Friday p.m.

LSAers hear students from four foreign lands

Students from Ethiopia, Germany, Jerusalem, and America participated in a panel discussion on the state of the church in their respective countries Sunday, April 13.

Dr. Lloyd Svensbye, Concordia, was moderator of the panel. The students were Ephraim Issac, Ethiopia; Andrea Darrias, Germany; Awad Ismir, Jerusalem; and Larry Foreman.

Aberdeen, S. D., will be the site of the annual spring workshop for the North central region April 17 to 19.

Eight delegates are expected to go from LSA. They will take part in discussions on Bible studies and the 1958 Ashram.

Got a chance to take a gander at Concordia's April Fool publication. It was entitled The Discordian and included such items as a news story on the collapsing of the field house roof, which was no great calamity at the time, said the article, as it was during chapel. Only members of the injured list were six pre-sem students and an MSCer looking for the bathroom.

Enlightening fillers included: "Piousness, Peyton Place, and You."

Bemidji State's newspaper The Northern Student had an interesting story in it last week entitled "Faculty Also Do Homework," and how they do! Five of Bemidji's faculty are working on their Ph.D's.

An MS student teacher has this to say about spring quarter student teaching: "A student teacher's reflection on a ninth grade study hall.

The spring has sprung and minds have turned to thoughts of tacks and angle worms."

Not much more this week... this sunshine and flowers bit has gotten the best of me and it's off to the races.

Welcome sweet springtime. Tra-la-la-la-la.

Sororities set open house

MSC's four sororities are making plans for an all-sorority open house to be held Thursday, May 4. Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, MSC president, with his wife presented a program to the spring meeting of the Douglas County Education Association in Alexandria on Monday, April 14.

On Tuesday Dr. Knoblauch attended a meeting of the executive council of the Red River Valley Boy Scouts. On Wednesday, April 16, he attended the Governor's Regional Conference on Exceptional Children held here on campus.

Today and tomorrow Dr. Knoblauch will beat the University of Minnesota where he will attend the conference on college teaching and the regional spring meeting of the Association of Minnesota Colleges.

A British scholarly journal has accepted for publication an article by Dr. William Gillis, language and literature department. The periodical, Notes and Queries, according to its editor, will publish the article in a forthcoming issue.

This is the system which the other state colleges use. The decision was made in order to put the college in line with the usual system in institutions of higher learning and to give the college better standing in the community and elsewhere.

NOTES ON ETIQUETTE: You address the first three ranks as "professor" and instructors are called "Mr.," "Mrs.," or "Miss."

In writing the title of a professor before the full name, abbreviate the full title. With the last name alone, write out "Professor" in full without "Associate" or "Assistant" preceding it.

The Mistic will follow that policy in its style.

9 lettermen back

By Dick Seal

Despite nine returning lettermen, Moorhead State's big problem will be in obtaining pitching strength as they prepare for their season opener against the North Dakota State Bison at Fargo's Barnett Field Saturday. The non-conference doubleheader is slated for 1 p.m.

Moorhead State will be playing in the Minnesota State College Conference and in the Steve Gorman League. Winona State is defending MSC champ while Mayville State Teachers College went undefeated in eight loop tilts to pick off the Gorman crown.

The veterans include John Thompson, outfielder from Hancock; Glenn Anderson, pitcher-outfielder from Moorhead; Gordon Grossman, outfielder from Chokio; Dale Skalisky, outfielder from Wadena; Billy Beck, third baseman from Lancaster; Gordon Johnson, outfielder from Fergus Falls; Milt Hysjulien, outfielder from Fergus Falls; John Chalfant, catcher from Moorhead (Michigan Center, Mich.) and Jerry Mehlich, pitcher-first baseman from Fargo, N. D. (Slemmons, Iowa).

Jim Oftedahl of Chicago, Ill., and Darrel Kaldor, a freshman from Halstad, will be competing for the shortstop spot which Reitan handled adequately last spring. Second base will likely go to Thompson or freshman Al Santwire of Mahanomen.

Otherwise, the Dragons should be strong at every position with an experienced outfield, a topnotch catcher in Chalfant, good third sacker in Beck and excellent first base strength in Mehlich.

Pitching problem

Coach Larry MacLeod, in his fourth year, said the squad lacks pitching strength since Don Betzen graduated and Carl Backstrom is not back in school. Others missing from last year's squad are shortstop Kenny Reitan, infielder Dick Zak and outfielders Dale Jokela and Ken Grabinske.

Besides the pitching problem, the Dragons are without experience hands at shortstop and second base.

The Dragons started workouts on March 31 and then returned to practice April 8 after the Easter vacation layoff.

Following is the schedule with doubleheaders on all dates:

April 19 — at NDSC, 26 — at Winona State. 29 — Mayville State Teachers College.

Kludt scores for MS in tennis meet

Dragon sophomore Gary Kludt turned in the lone win as the Moorhead State Dragon tennis team was downed by Concordia 6-1 in the opening dual meet of the season. The two teams played at Fargo's Island Park Friday afternoon.

Kludt, one of two returning lettermen on Coach Clarence Glasrud's inexperienced team, downed Concordia's Art Johnson in singles to score Moorhead State's lone point. The former Detroit Lakes prepster teamed with Jim Rice in doubles and the twosome carried Art Johnson and Dean Haugen into a final third game on a best two of three for doubles.

Playing for the Dragons besides lettermen Kludt and Rice were first year men Jim Lahren, Rod Zimmerman and Dick Bowden.

Robbins is selected for NSTC visitation

Dr. Glaydon D. Robbins, dean of education at MSC, has been appointed a member of the visitation committee of the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education which will inspect Northern State Teachers College, Aberdeen, S. D., April 22 to 25.

The appointment was made by Earl Armstrong, executive director of NCATE in Washington, D. C. Purpose of the visitation is to accredit, or approve, the teacher education program at NSTC.

Hettwer reelected to captain matmen

Recognition was given last Wednesday night to Moorhead State varsity-freshmen basketball and wrestling squad members at a winter sports banquet held at the Silver Moon cafe. Dr. Henry A. Lasch, director of athletics, served as master of ceremonies.

For a second straight year — Henry Hettwer will lead the Dragon wrestlers as captain. The Carrington, N. D., junior was given the honor by his teammates. Named as the most valuable wrestler was Keith Dyre, a junior from Detroit Lakes. Dyre was the Dragons' top point getter and had the best dual meet record at 11-2. Ron (Toby) Horn, a sophomore from Verndale, was given the most improved wrestler award.

Wrestling letterwinners named were: Ron Kragness, Dyre, Hettwer, Rufus Bankole, Dick Lasch, Don Tirk, Horn, John Eskelson, Tom Weir, Delmer Schmidt, John Hagen, John Kjera and Rodney Smith. Kragness and Dyre are the lone seniors.

Sherm Moe and Lowell Bolger were co-winners of the most valuable award in basketball. Moe is a junior from Ada while Bolger, a Moorhead senior, lettered four years.

Talking at the banquet were Mr. L. O. Nelson, Loel Frederickson, Mr. Sayres (Bud) Miller and Mr. Larry MacLeod.

Girls sports awards given at Concordia

College women from MSC, NDAC, NDU, and Concordia College were awarded basketball and volleyball officiating ratings during the month of March.

Officiating ratings are based upon tests conducted by the Red River Valley Board of Women Officials. The ratings were given at clinics held on the Concordia campus.

Marcia Delger was awarded a national basketball officiating rating, while an associate rating was given to Shirlyn Pikkaraine. Receiving an intramural rating was Barbara Kepner, and Doreen Mohler; Helen Torgerson, and Thelma Yamasaki received local ratings.

In volleyball a national rating went to Shirlyn Pikkaraine. Associate ratings were awarded to Barbara Kepner, Laura Noesen, and Thelma Yamasaki. Marcia Delger and Lois Jensen were awarded intramural ratings.

Students prefer U.S.

Nowadays as many foreign students study in the US as in Western Europe. Most of them are from Asia and most of them study at the larger institutions.

Last year 40,666 studied here as compared with fewer than 10,000 ten years ago. Favorite subjects are the natural sciences and engineering.

In all, 136 countries are represented, but most come from Canada, Nationalist China, and Korea.

Americans studying abroad number 9,500. Most study humanities at the graduate level.

In 1947 Montana State University changed its ruling that a foreign language was required for graduation. Last year the requirement was restored, a testimony of the trend in American universities.

Dyre leaves spotlight, baseball and track enter

While Moorhead State's wrestling team did not win any conference championship or tournament titles, they did produce one of the area's top small college wrestlers in Keith Dyre. The 157-pound Dyre finished his collegiate wrestling competition in a blaze of glory with an 11-2 dual meet won and lost record. He totaled 48 pound division in the Minnesota State College Conference meet, ment.

Dyre, although not having wrestled in high school since Detroit Lakes does not have the sport, finished third in the 157-pound division in the Minnesota State College Conference meet. The 1953 Detroit Lakes High School grad was one of two men from MSC to score in the NAIA at Mankato when he scored a single point along with Captain Henry Hettwer.

One of the area's finest high school track meets comes to Moorhead State on May 3 when the 12th annual Dragon Relays are run. Meet manager and Dragon track coach Roy Domek has a new record in entries with the schools entered. Several new schools will be seen in the meet which has Fargo and Barnesville as defending champions.

A record that has withstood a few years is the Class A 100-yard dash mark set by Breckenridge's Art Chard of :10.05.

The mark has been tied but for an early season record, it seems doubtful if the mark will fall. Chard went on to pick up points for the Moorhead State Dragons and now is teaching at Appleton.

Chard is not the only Dragon holding records. Dragons Bob Quam of Barnesville and Rudy Arechigo of Moorhead hold marks.

Sports fans will no longer see the familiar by-line of Will Gullickson in the Fargo Forum. The popular sports writer left for the Chicago Tribune to assume a spot on the Tribune's sport staff. Gullickson did much for Moorhead State in his game stories and through his column Will's Mill.

Moorhead State has one of the area's top small college trackmen in Gene Goedel, a junior from Wadena. Goedel has been the Dragons' top point getter in both his freshman and sophomore years. He is a hurdler of note, a good man in the 220 and 440-yard dashes and a point getter often in the high jump.

Expected to swing a big bat for the Dragon baseball team this spring is John Chalfant. He managed Fergus Falls in the Class A West Central League last year. If he hits like his sophomore year at MSC (1956) when he belted the ball for a .466 clip, opposing pitchers are in for trouble.

Reported to be the pitching mainstay for Wahpeton Science will be basketball star Bob Danielson. He was one of the better chuckers in the West Central League last year with the Breck-Wahpeton Twins.

Placement technique for area superintendents

Superintendents in Western Minnesota looking for new teachers will have an opportunity to see MSC student teachers in action.

Dr. Cyril Milbrath, director of student teachers, stated that a new technique for the placement of student teachers will be in effect in the near future.

Superintendents in the MSC placement area will receive a list of where off-campus student teachers are teaching. They can then use the list to locate MSC students and observe them in action.

Dr. Milbrath says he hopes that such a program will enable students to feel more secure about job placements.

Mr. R. R. Sorensen, MSC placement director, and Dr. Milbrath designed the new technique.

Last year Japan imported more books from the United States than from Russia: 487,337 tons from us; 24,392 from them. About 2000 Japanese have a fluent command of English.
